PORT WELGEM

ENJOYING FALL & DINING IN THE MESS

Our week has seen us be more involved with the rest of the family. We now go outside at least 4-5 times a day. When we come indoors, we get to play in the other rooms near the nursery. We really enjoy those moments. There are generally three of the big guys around and sometimes the whole crew of six and of course Mr Boots. This gives us time to socialize and find out what is going in Port Welgem (the humans call it gossiping). We have been getting use to loud noises, that at first startled us. However, we soon got use to them and other different sounds. Where we roam the floor is slippery or sometimes very rough. Being outside is the same. When we are on the grass the blades tickle our feet and tummies. On the gravel, in the driveway, it is different very rough and uneven. Gramps says it is all about getting us use to different things.

We are doing great chowing down. We have three meals a day, along with whatever we scrounge off Mom (usually another three snacks at the milk bar). After mealtime we waddle over to our bed, or Mom's, for a nap. We have all kinds of toys and balls to play with in our nursery. This coming week the humans told us we are going to see more renos' in our room. Something to do with crates - Bart thinks they sound like miniature brigs (jail cells). He is crazy - Bart is always thinking of weird things. Still our favourite time is in the evening when the whole family is together for a few hours relaxing in the sitting/TV room.

Uncle Sam and some of his mates have been in to see us. One of the mates is the ship's tailor. He was taking our sizes to see if we will be able to fit into our new pirate clothes. The other mates can hardly wait to get us onboard one of the ships so we can start learning stuff about the ship, sailing and the ocean.

Stay tuned next week, to follow the Pirates in their ongoing adventures...
